Task 1 you could lay this out/present the tasks in any way you decide! Pictures/models/writing/discussions

What items did you notice ancient Egyptians thought they would need in the afterlife?

Afterlife items for an ancient Egyptian

The ancient Egyptians wanted to be buried with their most precious belongings so they could have them in the afterlife.

Task 2

Last PSHE lesson, we looked at how different and diverse our nation is. The items that are most precious to us, would highly unlikely be the same as someone else.

What items are most precious to you? I want you to be able to explain why.

Items precious to me

Challenge

Now I want you to think less about 'belongings' and items and more about what you are grateful/thankful for.

- A) What are your most precious memories of your life so far?

And/or

- B) What are the things you are most thankful for in our world?

Again, lay this out/present this in any way that you would like.
